about

In August 2014 Syfy debuts the new six-episode competition series "Wizard Wars," offering a fascinating window inside the secretive world of magic. In each episode, a new team of magician "Challengers" will be presented with a random assortment of ordinary objects, and will be given a limited amount of time to transform these objects into amazing and magical performances. The Challengers are up-and-coming professional magicians who've traveled from all over the world to show off their magical prowess.
